3 Convicts Killed Fighting Big Fire

Sierra City, LA County Blazes Threaten Homes, Old Ghost Town

By International News Service

Three Folsom Prison convicts, called out to help save Sierra City, Calif., from a wind-whipped forest fire, perished Friday in a blazing Sierra County canyon from which nearly 20 other fire fighters barely escaped with their lives.

They were not immediately identified, but Folsom officials said the victims were from a prison honor forestry camp in the high Sierra.

Charred bodies of the victims were discovered at 3:15 p.m., about two hours after they were last seen alive and battling valiantly to turn back a seething wall of flames. They had been on the fire lines for several hours.

A weary army of 400 forest service workers, deer hunters, lumberjacks and convicts stopped the fire at the outskirts of Sierra City, a gold rush ghost town, after a 24-hour battle.

The crackling flames, fanned by a brisk wind, repeatedly jumped across the fire lines until the town became "a last defense ridge."

More than one thousand acres of timber and brush land were burned over before the exhausted fire fighters conquered the flames. All available equipment from the Tahoe National Forest, including giant bulldozers and water trucks, was pressed into the last ditch fight to save the town.

Brush Fire

In southern California another wind-lashed fire raced across brush-covered hills near Chatsworth in the San Fernando Valley and destroyed three homes.

Eight homes and a house trailer were destroyed Friday by a wind-whipped brush fire that streaked across dry hills near Chatsworth, at the northwestern end of the San Fernando Valley.

Scores of others barely escaped destruction. In some cases the flames were stopped right at the very edge of the homes.

Hundreds of valley residents fled from their homes as the blaze traveled with what sheriff's officers described as "incredible" speed.

Authorities said the fire was completely out of control and roaring over the steep hills of Santa Susana Pass toward Chatsworth, a town of 5,000 inhabitants near the apex of the triangular San Fernando Valley just 25 miles from Los Angeles.

Sheriff's officers at first gave the fire the proportions of a catastrophe by reporting that 21 homes had burned. Later, however, it was learned that deputies had actually saved the 21 fire-menaced homes in the Twin Lakes area but that three others had gone up in flames.

More than 600 acres of valley land had been blacked by the fire by late afternoon when the flames were still leaping from canyon to canyon in the Twin Lakes and Box Canyon areas.

Swiss Charge Out-Of-Gas Airline Crew

BERN, Switzerland (AP) — The Swiss government Friday filed manslaughter and criminal negligence charges against the pilot and co-pilot of a Swiss airplane that crashed in the English Channel on June 19. Two women and a child drowned after the plane ditched off Folkestone, England.

An official government inquiry established that the plane was not refueled before taking off from Geneva on a flight to London.

It was the Swiss Airline's first fatal accident since 1939. Chief Pilot Marcel Jacob and Co-pilot Walter Flachsmann were dismissed by the airline immediately after the accident.

New Atom Tests Set In Nevada

... Fresh Designs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Preparations are under way for a 1955 spring series of atomic explosions at the Nevada proving grounds, presumably to test out improved and possibly entirely new designs of nuclear weapons for battlefield use.

The Atomic Energy Commission started sending out warnings today to officials, stockmen and others in southern Nevada and southwestern Utah. They were notified that there will be a series of tests conducted at the continental atomic proving ground, in the area west of Las Vegas, beginning probably about mid-February.

While the announcement made no reference to types of atomic materials to be tested, the expectation is that they will be nuclear fission rather than the powerful fusion or H-bomb types.

Mid-Pacific Only

Hydrogen bomb tests have been confined exclusively to the mid-Pacific proving grounds in the Marshall Islands group.

Officials have spoken recently of the "constant improvement of our weapon posture," and of the growing variety of all types of atomic weapons. The creation of each new design or substantial change in the existing design of a nuclear bomb, guided missile warhead or artillery shell requires an actual full-scale proving of the theories developed in the laboratory.

The brief announcement said the 1955 series "will conform generally with those previously conducted in Nevada, including participation and support by the Department of Defense and Federal Civil Defense Administration."

The last tests in Nevada were in the spring and early summer of 1953.

Censure Report Ready Monday

WASHINGTON (INS) — Reaction was generally favorable Friday among senators in Washington to the announcement by Majority Leader William F. Knowland that the senate would reconvene after the elections to pass upon the Sen. McCarthy censure report.

Some Democrats emphasized, however, that the responsibility for postponing the session until Nov. 8, six days after the congressional balloting, lay with the Republicans.

The censure report will be made public Monday.

Sen. Ervin (D-NC), special committee member, said he had hoped the Senate would be called immediately, but added: "I can understand why the majority and minority leaders probably yielded to entreaties of senators involved in the campaign."

A full story on recalling of the Senate Nov. 8 will be found on Page 2.

3-Year-Old Girl Falls Off Balcony

Deborah Davidson, 3, of 4325 F. fell off the balcony at Grant's department store at 1005 O Street Friday.

She was rushed to St. Elizabeth's Hospital where she was reported in "good condition" early Saturday morning. She was uninjured and is being held for observation.

Budget Chief Defends Spending Plans Of Ike

... Replies To Criticism In Letter To Bridges

WASHINGTON (AP) — Budget Director Rowland R. Hughes denied Friday that the Eisenhower administration plans to swing its economy ax too vigorously in the fiscal year beginning next July 1.

Hughes wrote Sen. Bridges (R-NH) that "criticism that we are using the ax too heavily on expenditures" may have resulted from "misconceptions or misinterpretations of financial statements."

He added that President Eisenhower's instructions were to plan spending in line with "fiscal soundness, military and economic strength and the increased welfare of the country."

Bridges, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee and a candidate for re-election, had written Hughes that he was "somewhat disturbed to see varying but critical" news on the recently revised budget for the current fiscal year, which began July 1.

These upped the red ink estimates for the current fiscal year by 1 1/2 billion dollars to a total deficit of 4 1/2 billion and also lowered estimates on government receipts.

Bridges said some had interpreted this as an administration decision for more non-defense spending, especially on a "housing program designed to keep the whole industry booming."

He also asked about published reports that the Budget Bureau "had sent out one of the toughest letters" in history through a "secret directive" to all Cabinet officials asking them to "apply a heavy ax" on spending in the next fiscal year.

Defends Deficit Hike

In his reply, Hughes defended the jump of nearly two billion dollars in the estimate for this year's deficit, saying:

"I feel that we have a wonderful record of accomplishment. We have adopted a sound fiscal policy which is showing results."

And Hughes confirmed that it may be several years before federal income and outgo are balanced, adding:

"It is going to take some time to obtain a completely balanced budget because of the situation that we inherited."

As to economizing, Hughes said, that the lower revenues make it "all the more necessary to do what we could to reduce expenses."

"We cannot obtain economies without going after them energetically," the budget director noted.

ROWLAND R. HUGHES ... possible "misconceptions"

'Ike Pleading To Save His Party'—Adlai

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson declared Friday night that President Eisenhower is pleading for a Republican Congress "to save the Republican party."

The 1952 Democratic presidential candidate and former Illinois governor said Eisenhower is saying, in effect, "give me a Republican Congress to do what we couldn't do with a Republican Congress."

"The nation can't be saved that way," said Stevenson.

Stevenson, plumping for reelection of Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) in an address to more than 2,500 Democrats at the Evanston High School, described Douglas as "one of the ablest and more respected men ever to sit in the U.S. Senate."

Stevenson said it is hard to know what Douglas' Republican opponent, Joseph T. Meek, "stands for except day by day expediency."

"Expediency is the policy of the Republican party."

As an example of what Stevenson described as "the inconsistent" attitude of the Republican party, he cited the GOP feeling toward Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

This feeling, said Stevenson, "is based on the latest Gallup poll. If the percentage (favoring McCarthy) is up, McCarthy is put up to speak of '20 years of treason'; if the percentage is down, he is put on the shelf."

Woman Robbed Of Trunk, $6 After Accepting Ride Offer

A Rapid City, S.D., woman, Josephine Williams, was forcibly robbed of $6 and a $500 wardrobe early Saturday morning.

The woman told police that she was at the Bus Depot passing through Lincoln when a woman came up to her and asked her if she wanted a ride as far as Hastings.

She told police she put her trunk in the car and got inside. When she got in she found two men in the car along with the other woman.

Police said the men tore her dress to get the $6 that was tucked in her clothing. They then let her out and drove away with the trunk.

The Safety Patrol reported seeing a car in Omaha answering the description Josephine Williams gave police.

'Deputy' Kuhner Microphoneless

Chris Kuhner, a Lancaster County commissioner and "part-time" deputy sheriff, investigated a crime in his own backyard Thursday night and reported to police the theft of a microphone from the shortwave radio in his car.

Informed by a neighbor boy that someone was prowling around his car, Kuhner dashed from his house, but the prowler had gotten away.

Investigation showed that the microphone had been jerked loose from its cord and was missing.

Kuhner, who pays his own bond as a deputy sheriff, has one of the county's shortwave radios in his car. The county board stated Commissioner Kuhner had made special investigations for the board where his deputization was useful.

Body In Charred Home—

Wife 'Cried All Night' Over Inability To Bear Child So Husband Killed Her

SHAWANO, Wis. (AP) — A coroner's examination Friday revealed a supposedly routine fire death as the fatal shooting of a young wife — "because she cried all night" over her inability to bear another child.

Dist. Atty. Frederick Eberlein said first degree murder charges would be filed, probably Saturday, against Thomas Bostwick, 20, in the death of his 20-year-old wife, Inase, early Wednesday.

At that time, the young northwoods handyman told authorities he, his wife and 2-year-old daughter, Kathleen, escaped from their blazing four-room house, and that Inase apparently went back in after clothing while he took Kathleen to a neighbor's home for help.

However, the standard coroner's examination of Mrs. Bostwick's charred body disclosed a skull fracture. The prosecutor said officials ordered an autopsy.

It showed that Mrs. Bostwick died of a 22 calibre bullet wound in the back of the head, Eberlein said, and Bostwick was arrested early Friday.

The young husband and father immediately admitted killing his wife, the district attorney said, and told how after shooting her he sat in the bed holding the dead girl in his arms before he put her on the floor, drenched her with gasoline and set fire to the house.

Eberlein said that in his sob-punctuated statement dictated to a stenographer, Bostwick explained his wife was depressed over her inability to bear any more children and said she "cried all Tuesday night."

"Finally it was daylight. I picked up the gun which was on a small stand near the bed and shot her in the back of the head."

"Oh, I don't know why."

Bostwick called the fire department to his rural home near Bismarckwood from the neighbor's house where he fled. Firemen found his wife's body in the ruins of the house.

Senate To Hear Censure Report Nov. 8

FINDINGS READY ON MONDAY

Knowland Announces After-Election Date For Solons To Return

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate will come back to Washington Nov. 8 to consider in the comparative quiet of an after-election session whether to censure Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

The date, which is six days after the Nov. 2 election, was announced by Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) at his home in Oakland. The Senate's majority leader disclosed it after conferring with Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, the Senate Democratic leader.

Vice President Nixon endorsed the choice of a post-election date. There had been some agitation to hold the special session earlier, but a number of senators protested that it would interfere with political campaigns if candidates for re-election had to drop everything and return to Washington before Nov. 2. Some were not eager to go on record on the McCarthy issue before balloting day.

Meanwhile, the special committee which held public hearings on the censure charges announced completion of its report and said it will be made public Monday. It is reported to run 60,000 words, divided about evenly between a summary of the evidence and the committee's findings.

Chairman Watkins (R-Utah) said it had been approved unanimously by the six-member committee.

Knowland's statement said: "On Aug. 5 the vice president, acting on the recommendations of the majority and minority leaders, appointed the select committee pursuant to Senate Resolution 301. I have now been advised by the chairman of that committee, Sen. Arthur Watkins, that the committee report and five volumes of the hearings will be available Monday, Sept. 27.

"In order that the members of the Senate might have ample opportunity to study the testimony and the report, to assure that the ultimate action of the Senate would take place in an atmosphere free from pre-election tensions and with the intent that all senators might have adequate advance notice to arrange their schedules so that a full membership would be present when the Senate has the matter under consideration, I have recommended to the minority leader that the Senate be reconvened on Monday, Nov. 8, at 12 o'clock noon. He has informed me that this procedure will be agreeable to him."

Earlier in the day Sen. Johnson said at Austin, Tex., that he had conferred with a large number of Democratic senators and "we are ready to meet the issue as soon as the report is submitted."

J. Mark Trice, secretary of the Senate, said Knowland had telephoned him and told him that Johnson would telegraph the Democratic clearance for the Nov. 8 date.

"If I get the message from Johnson by tomorrow morning, I'll send out a call for the special session then," Trice told a reporter.

Chairman Watkins said the committee report will be one that could serve as the basis for a definite showdown vote by the Senate, but he refused in advance to say whether it contained recommendations for censure or non-censure.

Glad To Get It Done
"We are glad to get this job done no matter how unpleasant it has been," Watkins commented.

A reporter asked whether the report was one that "could be voted up or down" by the Senate.

"I think that purely as a speculative question the answer would be 'Yes,'" Watkins answered. "That would be the final effect of the entire report."

The report covers, among other things, nine days of public hearings on five groups of charges filed by Sens. Flanders (R-Vt.), Fulbright (D-Ark.) and Morse (Ind.-Ore.).

Committee sources said it deals separately with each of the five categories of charges, with each category containing the committee's conclusions. These charges allege that McCarthy (1) was con-

Many Million Christians In Russia, Morley Says

By ALLEN EDEE
Star Staff Writer

Free-lance correspondent John Morley said Friday night that there are "190,000,000 Christians in Russia."

Morley, who has been in and out of the Iron Curtain 11 times, told the Lincoln Dinner Club at the Cornhusker hotel that famed Russian war general, Marshal Georgi Zhukov is the "one Christian to rise to popularity in Russia."

Zhukov was called out of mothballs by Malenkov because of his popularity to offset the growing power of the now-deceased Beria, Morley said.

Zhukov's popularity and use by the Communists keeps him from "being run over by a truck," he said.

Morley laid the blame for the write-off of half of Indo-China to the Communists squarely at the door of the French.

"French law prohibited regular army French troops from fighting outside the country," he said, adding that no regular French troops fought in the Indo-China war after 1947.

"Many well-meaning people in this country tell about Chiang Kai-shek and his crookedness and Syngman Rhee, a stupid old man," Morley said.

"I don't know how much money Chiang has," Morley said, "but he drives an old 1937 car and lives in an unimpressive house."

When Morley asked Chiang through his English-speaking wife why he had lost the confidence of the people on the Chinese mainland, Madame Chiang replied "my husband and I trusted too many friends and too many relatives."

Morley said, "I don't think the Chinese Communist navy can find Quemoy, much less take it."

Quemoy is the island hot spot off the Chinese mainland that Communists have claimed they will take from the Chinese Nationalists.

Identity Of Murder Victim Confirmed By Fingerprints

Identification of Robert M. Lincoln, whose body was found in a small creek near West 2nd and J, has been confirmed by the Federal Bureau of Investigation in a fingerprint check.

Lincoln had previously been identified tentatively from papers found on his person.

An Army veteran of World War II, Lincoln had been indicted in September, 1943, at Los Angeles, the FBI telegram to Lincoln Police said.

In June, 1951, he had been employed as a laborer with the Navy department at San Diego, which is the last known address, the report added.

Lincoln was born Feb. 17, 1911, at Texarkana, Tex. No next of kin have been located.

Meanwhile, County Attorney Frederick Wagener said John Hoggatt, 39, of Natchez, Miss., who is the last known person to have seen Lincoln alive, has been "cleared" in the case.

Hoggatt's statement that he and Lincoln separated Friday night after being together in a Lincoln tavern has been checked out by a lie detector test.

Arrested several hours later on an intoxication charge, Hoggatt has been laying out his fine in the city jail.

Reports that Lincoln was seen later than Friday are being checked but so far none have foundation, police said.

The time of death has not been established, except that Lincoln had been dead "more than 48 hours" when found last Tuesday evening. Death was caused by a .25 caliber bullet.

Wagener said nothing new has developed in the case, but "investigation is continuing."

temptuous of the Senate, (2) abused Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker, (3) cast slurs at fellow senators, (4) illegally received and used a secret FBI document, and (5) "incited" government employees to give him more secret documents.

McCarthy himself, meanwhile, cancelled at least two of the three speeches he had planned to make on behalf of the Republican congressional campaign. An aid said the senator is being treated for a sinus ailment and has been forbidden by his doctor to do any speaking for a while.

Visits Hospital
McCarthy, his office said, visited the U.S. Naval Hospital at nearby Bethesda, Md., Thursday for treatment of a recurrent sinus condition, and will have to make daily trips to the hospital for a while.

The Wisconsin senator had scheduled speeches at Omaha Saturday, in Dupage County, Ill., Sunday and in Bloomington, Ill., Oct. 1.

Richard O'Melia, a staff aid, said McCarthy has definitely cancelled the first two and tentatively called off the Bloomington address, though there still is a chance he may speak at Bloomington—home grounds of Adlai E. Stevenson.

Gov. Boggs Says School Must Reopen

... At Milford, Del.

MILFORD, Del. (AP)—Gov. J. Caleb Boggs Friday issued a call for citizens' co-operation in reopening Milford High School Monday to both Negro and white children, warning that "law and order will be preserved."

The governor spoke out in a tense situation in this southeastern Delaware community over the first admittance of Negro pupils to the town's only high school.

"I must insist that no disorders, threats or violence take place," Boggs said in a statement issued at the state capital in nearby Dover. "I call upon every citizen, regardless of his personal views, to see that law and order and calmness prevail."

Boggs issued his statement following a decision by the state Board of Education to operate Milford schools, starting Monday, without racial segregation. The state board acted after the Milford school directors resigned en masse Thursday night. Both state and local boards favored compliance with the U.S. Supreme Court ruling forbidding racial segregation in public schools.

"I must say frankly that law and order will be preserved under the law and the American way," Boggs said. "I know that the citizens of Milford and Delaware will have it no other way."

As the governor made his appeal for cooperation there were reports that the Delaware National Guard in Milford might be alerted to stand by in case of trouble.

There also were reports that opponents of integration were planning a mass meeting to consider their next step.

Large Group Expected For Society Meet

More than 300 persons are expected to attend the 76th annual meeting of the Nebraska State Historical Society and the Native Sons and Daughters of Nebraska Saturday and Sunday at the Cornhusker Hotel.

Not only is the meeting expected to be one of the largest in the Society's history but it will mark only the second time that the meeting has been longer than a one-day session. The previous two-day meeting was held last year when the Society dedicated its new building.

Mari Sandoz, noted author, will address the annual banquet Saturday evening on the topic, "The Look of the West, 1854." Her speech will climax a day spent in reviewing Nebraska's first 100 years.

James E. Lawrence, Society president and editor of The Lincoln Star, will preside.

Members of the Native Sons and Daughters will meet Sunday afternoon and will elect officers. Paul Gilbert, state game commissioner, will speak. The association is expected to discuss ways of increasing Nebraska's recreational facilities.

Scouts To Earn Service Awards

Civic Service Certificates will be presented to Boy Scout units which give a total of 50 hours of community service during the year.

The program has been set up by members of the Cornhusker Council at the suggestion of Mayor Clark Jeary.

Boys and adults in Scouting give their time for worthy causes such as Community Chest, Red Cross and polio drives. Mayor Jeary said, and their efforts should be recognized by the community.

Marie McDonald To Get Decree And $300,000 Alimony

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—Actress Marie (The Body) McDonald announced through her attorneys that she will obtain a Las Vegas divorce from her husband, shoe magnate Harry Karl, and will receive more than $300,000 in alimony.

The actress, currently recuperating from a virus attack at Good Samaritan hospital, told friends that while she is establishing her Nevada residence for her divorce she may sign to appear in a Las Vegas night club show.

Details of the property settlement were not revealed, but her attorneys, Jerry Giesler and Bentley Ryan, confirmed that the property agreement had been signed.

Intimates of the couple, however, said that Marie will receive $1,500 a month alimony for 10 years and one month, even if she remarries, plus $500 a month for the support of her children.

She also received $75,000 for her interest in the family home in Bel Air.

Tense Battle For Bomber's Controls Told

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (INS)—Two airmen told a dramatic story Friday of wrestling the controls of a disabled jet bomber from its injured and dazed pilot so a young and inexperienced flyer could bring it to a safe landing.

Second Lt. Donald J. Rowley, 22, a recent graduate of an Air Force flying school, was hailed as the hero of the tense drama played 15,000 feet above Norton Air Force Base in a four-jet B-45 Tornado bomber.

It was Rowley who took over the ship's complex controls from Capt. Gerald E. Mann, 33, in the damaged cockpit and brought the huge plane in for a safe landing.

He and Arden L. Hellwig, a civilian aircraft overhaul inspector, told of taking off from North Field with Mann at the controls and Rowley as co-pilot to check the bomber after it had been serviced.

Suddenly, the men said the canopy flew off the Tornado's cockpit, striking Mann on the head and cutting a deep gash that left him stunned.

As the wind blasted through the open cockpit, Rowley and Hellwig battled the irrational Mann for control. The dazed pilot, blood dimming his eyes, insisted that he could fly until the other two men tore his hands from the controls.

Then Rowley, a slender youth just learning the intricacies of the bomber, righted the ship and landed it despite the lashing of the wind. The men said later that they never considered parachuting from the craft because of Mann's condition.

FRANKFURT (INS)—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer dramatically demanded Friday the immediate end of the occupation of his country.

He said the occupation should end regardless of whether a solution to rearming West Germany is reached at the forthcoming London Conference.

New Cabinet

SAIGON, Indochina (AP)—Premier Ngo Dinh Diem installed a new Cabinet Friday in a bold move to save his Viet Nam government, but he still sat on a powder keg which could explode any minute.

For the first time Diem brought into the Cabinet representatives of the powerful Cao Dai and Hoa Hao religious sects—including commanders of sizeable armies maintained by anti-Communist sects—to bolster his hand in his struggle for power with the South Viet Nam army chief of staff, Gen. Nguyen Van Hinh.

Reds Pull Out

TOKYO (Saturday) (AP)—Peiping radio said Friday that approximately 34,000 Red Chinese soldiers had been pulled out of North Korea along with their tanks, artillery and other weapons.

A broadcast heard here said 2,127 soldiers left Wednesday through Mampo, one of the ports of entry under the armistice. It added that 31,800 others had left by way of Siniju.

Money To Flow

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower assured finance ministers and central bankers gathered here from 57 nations Friday that they could count on continued U.S. support for "efforts to free the world from restrictions on the flow of trade and money."

The President's message was read to the annual governors meeting of the World Bank and International Monetary Fund by Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, who gave it quick, restrictive interpretation.

State Conference On Education Set For November 16

The steering committee of the Governor's Lay Leadership Conference on Education decided Friday to hold a state-wide conference on Education on Nov. 16 at a place to be announced later.

It was agreed, however, that the meeting place should be somewhere other than Lincoln or Omaha.

The conference will be a sequel to one held last spring. From it are expected to come concrete proposals for improvement of Nebraska's educational system.

Gov. Crosby announced Nebraska's share of a recent Congressional appropriation for a survey of educational needs is $5,432. Expenses of the Nov. 16 conference can be met out of this allocation, he said.

Wants 'Em Back

LONDON (AP)—Poland will demand the return of seven seamen who overpowered the captain and other members of the crew aboard a Polish fishing trawler and sought political asylum in Britain.

The British Foreign Office said Polish Ambassador Eugeniusz Mikulski called Friday and served notice his Communist government will attempt to extradite the seven seamen, now being held in jail at Durham.

Seeks Strength

WASHINGTON (AP)—High American and French officials will hold a three day conference here beginning Monday on possible joint measures to strengthen anti-Communist forces in the free areas of Indochina and protect them against Red conquest.

LIVING COST DROPS BY .2%

WASHINGTON (AP)—Government figures showed Friday the cost of living went down 0.2 per cent in August to exactly the same level of a year ago—115 per cent of the 1947-49 average.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said that, compared with July, 1954, August showed decreases in the cost of food, house furnishings, apparel, transportation and recreation.

Gas and electricity charges were listed as unchanged from the previous month and there were increases for other fuels, housing, rent and medical care.

With more livestock coming to market, there were cuts in the price of every kind of meat, with a 4.5 per cent reduction on bacon, pork chops and leg of lamb leading the list.

A drop of 21 per cent in the cost of tomatoes, one of 17 per cent for sweet potatoes and green beans and one of 27 per cent for peaches were all attributed to adjustments from the prices which had been pushed up high during July by drought.

Eggs and milk rose seasonally, but even so eggs were selling for about 13 cents a dozen less than a year ago.

Patient Gunmen Out-Wait Vault Locks—Get $100,000

Bandits Spend 30 Minutes Robbing Bank

MOUNT VERNON, N.Y. (AP)—Two early bird gunmen waited out the time mechanism of a bank vault Friday, then stole $100,000.

It took them nearly 30 minutes—with the enforced help of arriving employees—to open the double-combination vault. But they engineered the morning robbery of the Fulton Ave. drive-in branch of the County Trust Co. with extreme calmness. One of them even left the bank in the midst of the robbery to get twine to bind employees.

The bandits described themselves as "wanted men."

The pair threatened employees with a gun, tied up manager Edmund Tichenor and three of his tellers, but did not actually harm anyone.

FBI Joins Search

The FBI joined police in a search for the bandits, both of them young and rather roughly dressed. A 13-state alarm was flashed for them. It was the first bank robbery in the history of this Westchester county community of about 72,000 just north of New York City.

The two bandits were waiting when Tichenor arrived at the rear door of the bank at 7:30 a.m.—half an hour before opening time.

"Do you know Fran Warren, the singer?" one of them asked the manager apparently feigning a conversation of no significance.

"No," Tichenor replied.

"Get inside."

"Well, it doesn't make any difference," said the robber, whipping out a gun. "Get inside."

Tichenor knew only one of the dual combinations to the cash vault. The bandits forced him to turn his combination on the dials. Then they bound him and settled down to wait for Mrs. Jean Beebe, a teller and the only one with the second combination.

She walked in about 10 minutes later and one of the robbers grabbed her collar, jerked her through the door and told her:

"We Are Wanted"

"We are wanted men. I have a sister and mother and don't want to hurt you. But I'll blow your brains out if you don't open the vault."

Mrs. Beebe released her combination on the vault. But there was still a wait of about 15 minutes before the mechanism automatically went into action to swing the vault open.

Meanwhile, two men tellers arrived for work and the bandits bound them up as they had Tichenor and Mrs. Beebe. The men were placed on the floor, Mrs. Beebe on a couch. All were assured they wouldn't be hurt if they kept quiet.

With the vault finally open, the bandits used adding machine covers as bags into which they scooped cash. Then they fled, apparently in a waiting automobile. The money was on hand in the bank for payrolls.

5 Wesleyan Students Leave For Semester In Washington

Five Nebraska Wesleyan University students will leave Saturday for Washington, D. C. where they will study for one semester at the American University.

These students will participate in the Washington Semester plan, an affiliation with American University whereby a student enrolls at his home college but spends the semester studying special problems of government in the nation's capital.

Under the Washington Semester plan the students will return to their home campus the following semester to share their experiences with other students in their major departments.

Dr. E. Glenn Callen, professor of political science and sociology, is adviser to the Wesleyan unit.

Participants are: Marilyn Wagner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Wagner of Hartington, a sociology major.

Aubrey Forrest, son of Dr. and Mrs. A. Leland Forrest of Lincoln, a sociology major.

Earl Allison, son of Dessa M. Allison of Mitchell, a history major.

Bob Jewett, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Walter L. Jewett of Beatrice, a history major.

Carl Spencer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Spencer of Lynch, a history major.

This is the second year during which Wesleyan students have joined others from a select group of colleges over the country to participate in this unique educational experiment.

Last year C. LeRoy Borders of Mullen, Willa Jo Cramer of Chester and Charles Moeller of Valley were Wesleyan participants.

Betty June Kolar 24th Polio Patient

Betty June Kolar, 18, 1233 K, is in good condition with spinal polio at St. Elizabeth Hospital. There is some paralysis.

Her case is the 24th in Lancaster County so far this year. The county total for 1953 was 18.

The state, several weeks late in reaching its polio peak this year, probably is past the worst.

There were 71 cases in Nebraska last week, compared to 88 the previous week.

This indicates polio incidence is on the decline, although the polio count sometimes has climbed again after a decline.

In previous years the peak of polio incidence in the state usually was reached by the end of August or the first week in September.

Camera May Hold Base Blast Clue

32 Killed By Flames, Explosion

BITBURG, Germany (AP) — A camera containing exposed film may prove to be an important clue to the cause of the explosion Thursday of a 120,000-gallon jet fuel tank which killed 32 persons and injured 1.

German police said the camera had been found near one of the victims, a French engineer, who took pictures of a fire-fighting demonstration that preceded the blast. Police said the engineer, M. Jarty, was taking pictures a few seconds before the explosion.

Both German and French authorities appeared satisfied the blast was set off accidentally and was not the result of sabotage.

Area Guarded

French troops Friday night cordoned off the five-mile long Nims River valley into which the American-stored fuel was drained from other underground tanks Thursday to prevent spread of the disaster. German authorities warned residents not to light fires in a wide area because they said several rivers and creeks might be polluted.

There were no American casualties. Seven badly burned German and French victims died in hospitals last night and today, bringing the death toll to 32.

Butburg officials said a private company engaged in NATO air base work, including installation of fire extinguishing equipment, put on the fire-fighting demonstration. One German official said many of those who might supply full information about who ordered the demonstration are dead. Survivors are presently in no condition to talk.

Ear-Splitting

A German ditch digger, Paul Kliesen, said he was standing in a hole four yards from the tank when it went up with an ear-splitting roar. Kliesen suffered severe burns and fled the scene with his clothing and hair ablaze.

There were unofficial theories a spark from the demonstration had entered the tank ventilator pipes. Kliesen's account gave this theory weight. He said that he watched "smoke and flame" from the demonstration just before the tank exploded.

Brig. Gen. Webster Anderson, US Army Europe quartermaster, said in a statement that jet fuel loss in the accident was 300,000 gallons, not 1½ million gallons.

American Stores Issued Warehouse Building OK

A building permit has been issued American Stores for construction of a new warehouse at 335 N at an estimated cost of $32,000.

The new one story structure, according to the company, will be a prefabricated building for use as a central supply room for non-perishables. Construction is to start in two weeks with the building expected to be completed this year.

Farm Director Testifies On Plans For KFAB's Proposed TV Programs

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Nebraska farm program broadcaster, said Friday he believes standard radio still is a more important medium than television in communicating with the mass of farmers.

William E. MacDonald of Lincoln, Neb., the farm service director for radio station KFAB in Omaha, made the statement at a communications hearing on two competing applications for a Channel 7 TV station in Omaha.

The competing applicants are the KFAB Broadcasting Co., and the Herald Corp. of Omaha.

Testifying about farm programs proposed to be presented by KFAB if it is granted the TV station, MacDonald said he would expect to have general supervision of farm programs for both the radio and television station.

Activities Outlined

Questioned by counsel for the Herald Corp. about the time he now devotes to radio alone, MacDonald said he arises at 5 a.m. and broadcasts his first program at 6:30 from his farm home near Lincoln. He said he has three or four other programs during the day and frequently attends meetings and other events at night as a speaker or reporter.

"I sometimes meet myself coming in in the morning," he commented.

Percy Russell, Herald Corp. attorney, wanted to know how MacDonald would find the time to do anything for TV.

MacDonald said he would continue his identity with at least two of his daily radio shows, although he probably would record the programs partially in advance. He said he would expect to participate personally in three farm programs on TV daily.

MacDonald agreed when Russell suggested that radio is still more important in rural areas around Omaha than TV because of its larger coverage.

Easier To Demonstrate

However, he said television makes it possible to use teaching aids, such as charts, and to demonstrate techniques that can only be described orally on radio.

Earlier MacDonald testified that he expects to devote most of his time to supervision of farm programs for the proposed Omaha television station of KFAB Broadcasting Co.

The testimony brought a challenge from counsel for the Herald Corp.

Wait Further Information

Russell told a Commission examiner, Isadore Honig, that neither MacDonald nor his proposed full time TV assistant for farm programs appeared to have been counted in the total staff of 74 persons which KFAB stated in its application would be employed by the proposed TV station.

George Smith, KFAB attorney, said he was not able to clear up the apparent discrepancy but R. Lyell Bremser, program director, might be able to furnish additional information when he returns to the hearing Monday.

Honig permitted MacDonald to continue his testimony about farm programs under challenge, with the understanding that his entire testimony will be subject to elimination from the hearing record if it later appears that his employment on TV would increase the total TV staff beyond 74.

Ike Promises To Seek Removal Of T-H 'Union Busting' Provisions

PRESIDENT IS POLITELY RECEIVED

...By Labor Body

LOS ANGELES (AP)—President Eisenhower promised anew Friday that his administration will remove "union-busting" provisions from the Taft-Hartley law and he will give sympathetic consideration to all organized labor's views.

Eisenhower received a politely warm reception from delegates at the American Federation of Labor's annual convention and was interrupted a half dozen times by applause.

The President left immediately after his speech to return to his vacation headquarters at Denver, his plane landing there at 2 p.m. (MST). This was 48 hours after he left on a speechmaking trip through the Northwest and in southern California.

While conceding that his administration has so far failed to carry out its pledge to change the Taft-Hartley labor law, Eisenhower said "a solid Democratic vote in the Senate" had been responsible for defeating his amendment proposals.

The President, continuing his campaign to retain Republican control over Congress in this fall's elections, made no direct appeal for AFL support but asked the delegates to carry his "very best wishes" to their union members.

Eisenhower said he realized the AFL, which supported Democratic nominee Adlai Stevenson against him in the 1952 presidential election, disagreed with him on certain policies but he continues to feel friendly toward the working man.

"Now, there is nothing sacrosanct about any views that I hold, and I have never so stated," the President said. "So I just want to say this, the views of this convention will be studied, and thoroughly and sympathetically considered, just as will the views of every other great group of Americans."

After Eisenhower finished speaking, delegates gave him a half-minute standing ovation. AFL President George Meany thanked him and said while the AFL often disagrees with administration policies, it recognizes "a lot of nice things too."

Dave Beck, an AFL vice president and head of the big AFL Teamsters Union, said he believed Eisenhower's speech "convinced everyone that in his heart he is for labor, but I believe there are things he wants to do but cannot do because of influences—political influences—that surround him."

Richard Gray, president of the powerful AFL Building Trades Department and an Eisenhower supporter, praised the address.

Another AFL vice president, A. J. Hayes, who also heads the AFL Machinists Union, said he wished "there were more to comment about in the President's speech."

"I wish he had said more about what we in labor are concerned about," Hayes said. "That includes economic stability, unemployment, housing, health and our deteriorating relations with other countries."

On the economic situation, Eisenhower said he had listened in the past and would continue to listen to organized labor's proposals on what should be done "about meeting obvious soft spots in our economy."

"And there are such (soft spots)," the President said, "anyone would be idiotic to deny it." While frankly stating that he and the AFL occasionally disagree, Eisenhower refrained from going so far as did Secretary of Labor Mitchell in a speech to the convention earlier this week. Mitchell accused the AFL of being "unfair" in what he said was almost steady fast AFL opposition to everything carrying a Republican party tag. Eisenhower said there are many things on which he and the AFL agree, one being "absolute opposition to Communism in all its forms." And he said he didn't think the AFL wanted to return to high taxes, greater cost of government, or resumption of the Korean fighting.

The President received a hearty laugh from delegates when he reminded them that by tradition and history, "You are completely and absolutely non-political."

"I can't tell you," Eisenhower grinned, "what a relief it is to me to address an audience where there is nothing political expected of me one way or the other."

The President said two provisions he wants removed from the Taft-Hartley law are the present ban against strikers voting in National Labor Relations Board elections and the requirement that union leaders must file non-Communist affidavits for their unions to use the NLRB.

Meet Star Carrier Kelly Young

Since May of 1953, residents of Ravenna, Neb., have been enjoying the very excellent service of Lincoln Star carrier Kelly Young. Kelly is 13 years old and in the eighth grade in Ravenna. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Young.

An avid sports enthusiast, only an injured knee could stop Kelly in football. He carries on with basketball, however, and is doing very well. The National League is his favorite baseball league and the Brooklyn Dodgers are the top team on his list.

Kelly is an active Boy Scout and enjoys the frequent hikes they take. As a Lincoln Star carrier, his record is superb. His customers enjoy early delivery on their porches every morning. That his good service is paying dividends is very evident in his record as a carrier. Since taking over his route, Kelley has tripled the size of his daily route and his Sunday route is nine times as large as it was.

He uses his regular route profits every four weeks to pay for things he needs. By using his opportunity to gain business experience from his route to a good advantage, Kelley is making excellent progress toward a successful future.

Stassen To Speak Before Baptists

OMAHA (AP)—Mutual Security Administrator Harold Stassen will be among the speakers at the 86th annual Nebraska Baptist State Convention here Sept. 30-Oct. 3.

Stassen is scheduled to speak Saturday evening, Oct. 2.

Other speakers will include the Rev. C. V. Hargroves, president of the American Baptist Convention, and Mrs. Maurice Hodge, national president of the Baptist women's organization.

Preceding the opening of the convention, meetings of the state women's organization and the Nebraska Ministers' Council are scheduled.

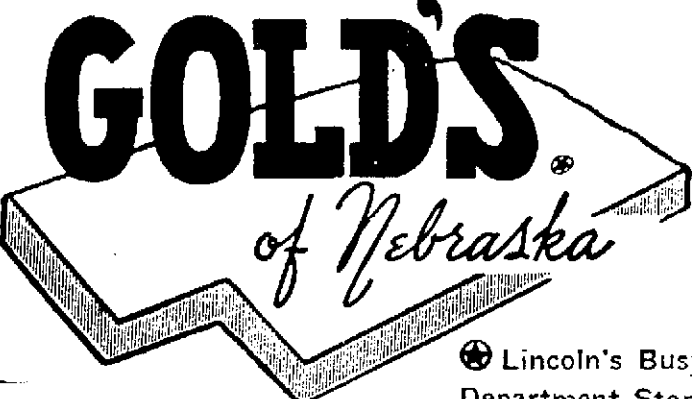

Mrs. Albert Thompson, Omaha, is president of the women's group; the Rev. E. C. Basler, Chadron, president of the ministers' Council, and E. F. Starr, Grand Island, president of the State Convention.

Dr. Arthur M. Clarke, executive secretary, said it was expected the convention would be the largest ever held by Nebraska Baptists.

Fire Fighters

CAMDEN, S. C. (AP)—Women of South Carolina are taking to their sewing machines to help prevent woods fires. They are making bright red flags to fly at schools when dryness makes the timber fire danger high, as a reminder and warning to passing motorists. The project is sponsored by the State Federation of Women's clubs, in conjunction with the Keep South Carolina Green forest fire prevention program.

$10,000 Award To W. Earl Hall For Safety Work Leadership

W. Earl Hall, editor of the Mason City, Ia., Globe-Gazette, and one of the nation's pioneers in accident prevention, has been named the 1954 winner of the $10,000 Mutual of Omaha Criss Award and gold medal, according to John E. VanBloom, Lincoln general agent for the firm. The Iowa editor was selected winner from a field of some 300 candidates. Dr. C. W. Mayo of Rochester, Minn., heads the 14-man Criss board of judges which made the selection.

The award, largest of its kind in the U.S., was established to honor outstanding contributions in the fields of health and safety by Mutual of Omaha and is a tribute to the late Dr. C. C. Criss, founder of the company.

Launched Activities in 1926
Hall's interest in organized safety programs dates from 1926, when, as Iowa state community service director of the American Legion, he launched one of the first organized safety campaigns in the nation.

In 1934, he helped organize the Mason City Safety Council and founded the Iowa State Safety Council. He served as state president until 1939 and has been a member of the board since that time.

During his tenure on the Iowa State Board of Education from 1937 to 1949, Hall promoted a driver training course for the state's high schools now in operation throughout Iowa.

Named By Truman
He has served as vice-president of the National Safety Council and at present, is one of the directors. He was elected chairman of the

W. EARL HALL

National Committee for Traffic Safety in 1946 to head the Committee for Organized Support of the President's Highway Safety Action Program.

As editor of the Mason City newspaper, Hall inaugurated 23 years ago the practice of including one or more safety messages in every edition of his publication.

The Globe-Gazette is a member of the Lee Syndicate Newspapers, with which the Lincoln Star is affiliated.

Hall will receive the award Oct. 17 at the annual board of directors of the National Safety Council dinner in Chicago. The dinner is on the eve of the opening of the 42nd National Safety Congress and Exposition being held Oct. 18-22.

Omahan's Attempted Petition Filing For Congress Rejected

An attempted petition filing by Omaha Attorney William J. Lindsay for a Second congressional district short term is being rejected.

Deputy Secretary of State Roland Luedtke said Friday the petitions, received just before the 5 p.m. Thursday deadline for petition filings, will be returned to Lindsay as unacceptable on the grounds no such race exists.

Although there's a possibility that a short-lived second congressional district vacancy may develop later, it would have to be filled at a special election, Luedtke explained.

Here's how the vacancy could develop:

Rep. Roman Hruska, Omaha Republican who currently represents the Second district, is a candidate for the four years remaining of the term of the late U.S. Senator Hugh Butler.

Sen. Sam Reynolds of Omaha now holds the interim senate post by appointment but the appointment lasts only until the November election.

Should Hruska win the senate seat, he could be sworn in as soon as the election results have been certified and he has been qualified. But to move up to the senate in advance of the new term starting in January, Hruska would have to quit his post as U.S. representative.

In any event, should such a short term congressional vacancy develop, it would have to be filled at a special election from candidates selected at party conventions in the district.

Although Lindsay's petition filing is rejected, two successful petition filings for other posts were reported by the secretary of state's office.

Frank Cole of Loomis filed by petition for director of the central Nebraska public power and irrigation district from Phelps County.

Fred S. Wallace of Gibbon filed for a two-year term as director of the Dawson Public Power District. The two-year term developed when the incumbent director moved away.

Wallace and a friend, Dale Stubblefield of Shelton, had won nominations to a full term as director of the district in the primary but Wallace withdrew from this full term race to make the race for the two-year term.

For Half-Million Visitors Gavins Recreation Areas Are Sought

Gov. Robert Crosby said he will write directly to President Eisenhower urging that the Government buy more land for public use along the Gavins' Point Reservoir.

The governor announced his intention after hearing a delegation of Knox and Cedar County men on the question.

Crosby said he would welcome resolutions from wildlife clubs, chambers of commerce and other groups in the area to send to the President along with his letter.

Curtis Outlines 9 Reasons Behind Confidence Vote

DAVID CITY, Neb. (AP) — Rep. Carl Curtis (R-Neb.) outlined for a David City gathering nine reasons why Nebraskaans should give the Republicans a resounding vote of confidence.

Curtis, GOP candidate for the U.S. Senate, was among Republicans speaking to a crowd estimated at about 100. The crowd included members of the civics class at David City High School.

Curtis said the 7½ billion dollar tax reduction, making soil conservation expenditures deductible from farmers income for income tax purposes, inauguration of the small watershed program and appropriation for the Gavins Point-Belden Power line were among reasons voters should keep the GOP in power.

Another speaker was Rep. Roman Hruska, also a candidate for the U. S. Senate. Hruska noted in his address that his appearance marked a return to his home town.

Farm issues appear to be uppermost in the minds of persons Hruska said.

People are interested in most farm problems, Hruska said, but "they are not excited, unhappy or apprehensive."

Flexible price supports and controls of some major crops have been injected into the farm picture recently by the Eisenhower Administration.

John D. Forsyth of Niobrara pointed out that the "take line" for earlier projects in the Missouri Basin program had been fixed at least 500 feet back from the average high water line. But in the case of Gavins' Point, it has been narrowed down to 300 feet.

We're going to have 500,000 people a year coming in there. We must have some place to put them," he commented.

Members of the delegation argued that more public area is needed for parking, for boat landings, and for picnicking.

Sen. Dwight Burney of Hartington asked if the state could buy some land along the reservoir for public purposes. But by the time the legislature could act to provide the necessary appropriation, it would be too late, he was told.

Secretary Paul Gilbert of the State Game Commission said repeated appeals to the Army Engineers and to the Nebraska delegation in Congress had been fruitless.

"They say the policy has been fixed higher up," he commented.

Members of the delegation conferring with the governor came from Bloomfield, Wausa, Niobrara, Crofton and Hartington.

Treat Uncle Sam As Private Creditor, Revenue Officials Tell Accountants

OMAHA (AP) — Uncle Sam wants to be treated with the same consideration accorded private creditors, Frank Lohn, regional commissioner of internal revenue, said here.

Lohn said he was going to crack down on firms which collect excise taxes from their customers and withholding taxes from their employees and who do not promptly turn the collections over to the government.

Lohn also had some suggestions regarding individual taxpayers as he addressed the convention of the Nebraska Association of Public Accountants.

He urged the accountants to help persuade taxpayers to keep better permanent records and to compile more accurate income tax reports.

In this nine-state region, he said, more than 90,000 errors in simple arithmetic alone have been found in 1953 tax returns. One of every four errors is in favor of the government. Errors on 1953 returns amounting to $4,700,000 were in favor of the taxpayers.

The commissioner insisted tax evasion must be treated as a crime not a misdemeanor, adding: "It

NU Engineers Test Revolutionary Combine-Picker

The Stalks And Ears Go In Here

This is the attachment that converts the regular wheat combine into a cornpicker in season. The revolutionary device is being tested by engineers at the College of Agriculture. (NU Photo)

Small, Simple Attachment Is Devised

The long evolution of farm machinery may be making a major stride in Nebraska soon, one which could well make the standard grain combine a basic tool for both wheat and corn production.

Two experimental units that may make it possible to adapt combines to harvest corn are being put into the field by the agricultural engineers at the University of Nebraska.

These units would permit a farmer to use his combine to harvest both his grain and corn, according to L. W. Hurlbut, chairman of the Ag Engineering department.

Nebraska News

He described one machine operation in this manner. First the stalk goes into the cutter bar where the stalks are cut off. It then moves behind a holding arm where gathering chains tip the stalk back against a small spiral section of the lower snapping roll. The spiral band pushes the stalk between the ends of the snapping rolls. With these rolls set at an angle to the direction of travel, the stalks continue to move laterally within the rolls until they are discharged forward over the cutter bar.

Ears are retained on the platform where they can be elevated into a shelling cylinder. Hurlbut says it is possible to use the regular thrashing cylinder with minor changes.

As is the case with all picker-sheller type corn harvesters, they are most efficient when the moisture content of the kernel is relatively high, the engineer said. This stage is within about two weeks after corn reaches its maximum growth.

Work thus far indicates that field shelling can be started when the corn reaches about 25 per cent moisture content, if drying equipment is available, Hurlbut added.

A standard make self-propelled combine with an experimental corn-snapping unit attached on the front will also be tested in harvest on the University experiment farm, he said.

All corn on the experiment farm has been field shelled for the past seven years, Hurlbut said.

McKinney Honored At NU Reception

Members of the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture home economics department and home extension service held a recognition reception Friday evening at the college for Dr. Florence McKinney, new chairman of the home economics department.

And The Stalks Come Out Here

Roger Nelson, graduate student at the College of Agriculture, points to the picking rollers which pull the stalk away from the ears and allow them to be discarded downward before the cutting bar. The ears continue upward on the conveyor belt into the cylinder. (Star Staff Photo)

Feeders Day Program Said 'Finest Yet'

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. — The program for the 24th annual Fall Feeders Day at the North Platte Experiment Station promises to be one of the best yet, according to Supt. James C. Adams.

In addition to seeing 21 lots of yearlings and two year old steers on test, those attending the all day event Thursday, Sept. 30, will witness the dedication of a new feed barn. The barn contains some of the more modern equipment for handling and mixing livestock rations.

Speakers include Howard J. Gramlich, Agricultural Development Agent for the Northwestern Railway and former chairman of the University of Nebraska Animal Husbandry Department; Byron Sadle, well known livestock breeder and feeder of Paxton, Neb., who will tell of his operations including the use of irrigated pastures; W. W. Derrick, extension animal husbandryman, Nebraska College of Agriculture, who will discuss farm sheep flocks; and Dr. M. L. Baker, associate director of agricultural research, Lincoln, will conclude the afternoon program.

Inspection of test cattle will begin at the west place barns at 10 a.m. Central Standard Time. Lunch will be served on the grounds at noon. Five lots of test cattle have been on summer range with four lots receiving supplemental feed including soybean meal, corn, and molasses in different combinations. Four lots of two year old steers are being fattened by different methods and 12 lots of yearling steers are being fed protein supplements of different mixtures of soybean meal and dehydrated alfalfa meal.

Benson Wires 'For Voters,' Green Claims

OGALLALA, Neb. (AP) — Recent telegrams from Nebraska's Congressmen to the Secretary of Agriculture "were really intended for consumption by Nebraska voters," James F. Green, Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate, said Thursday.

"Seemingly the Republicans have discovered two things: That there's going to be an election in Nebraska, and that there are farmers in this state," Green said. "Neither of these things seemed to be in their minds when they supported Ezra Benson's 'beat-down-the-farmer' program."

Green said that "wasting money on telegrams seems to be an odd procedure, since Benson was in Norfolk only a few days before, and the low egg and chicken prices could have been brought to his attention then."

Judges earlier presented top awards to 10 publications in as many different classes. These included an award to the Baton Rouge, La., Chamber of Commerce, for the excellence of its publication, Baton Rouge.

Among those receiving other top awards was the Northwestern Bell, Telephone Co., of Omaha, by Freeman Godfrey.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Paul Vican, wore a gown of white slipper satin. The long sleeved fitted bodice was designed with a yoke contoured with scallops of lace, and the very full gathered skirt was completed with a whisper train. Her fingertip veil was held to the head with a coronet ornamented with seed pearls and sequins, and she carried a single white orchid on a white prayer book.

Mrs. Al Young was the matron of honor and only attendant.
Mr. Young served as best man, and seating the guests were Leonard Vican and Maynard Brunner.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in St. Teresa's Hall.

Mr. Lebo and his bride have returned from a honeymoon trip and are residing at 600 So. 27th St.

Miss Frances Ann Hashage, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hashage of Bostwick, became the bride of Ardell Lyle Sieck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sieck of Crete, at an afternoon ceremony solemnized on Sunday, Sept. 12. Lighted white candles and pedestal arrangements of crimson gladioli and greenery appointed the chancel of the Salem Lutheran Church at Superior for the service, which was read by the Rev. Mr. Hanselman.

A prelude of organ music was presented by Miss Alice Meyer, who also played the wedding music and accompanied Paul Hanselman as he sang "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer."

coln, as the matron of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Maxine Sieck of Lincoln and Miss Dorothy Hashage of Bostwick, wore alike frocks of net over taffeta in tones of blue. They carried rounded colonial bouquets of white, feathered carnations.

Serving as best man was Donald Goosic of Crete, and the ushers were Donald Langdon, Lincoln, and Robert Johnson of Superior.

White lace and nylon net over satin fashioned the bride's period gown. Long, fitted sleeves and a high, turned-down collar accented the lace bodice, which extended into a deeply scalloped peplum, and the tulle over satin skirt was gathered into fullness and ended in a train. A beaded tiara held her lace-edged veil of illusion, and she carried a white Bible ornamented with a cluster of red roses and showered with satin ribbon.

Mr. and Mrs. Sieck will reside in Lincoln where the bridegroom, a member of Delta Alpha Pi fraternity, is attending the University of Nebraska.

AROUND TOWN

THERE'S nothing that is quite so much fun as upsetting the dopest's dope—That's why we're sitting around with our fingers crossed this morning—hoping that Nebraska will take good care of that two touchdown edge that all of the smarties have given Minnesota—But it's a long time until afternoon—so we'll go ahead with the news at hand—

HEAR that next week-end will be homecoming for Mr. and Mrs. Frank Williams who have been abroad since early August—

Mr. and Mrs. Williams flew from the States directly to Copenhagen, and visited the Island of Gotland where Mr. Williams' mother was born. After some time in the Norse countries the travelers went up the Rhine to Munich where they spent several days before going on to Salzburg and Ommenagau. In Switzerland Mr. and Mrs. Williams devoted most of their time to Zurich and Lucerne, and then went to Italy where they concentrated on Florence and Rome—There also was a chateau trip, and a stop at the Castle of Dromoland—Mr. and Mrs. Williams are flying home by way of Shannon, Ireland where they will make an overnight stay at a famous old castle outside of Limerick.

ALTHOUGH their regular season doesn't begin until Oct. 23, the members of the Revelers' Club had a bonus party Friday evening—a dinner dance at Hotel Cornhusker—High spots of the evening included the introduction of new members, including Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wagener, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Griffith, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Burden, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Andersen, Mr. and Mrs. Avery Forke, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Poulson, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edholm, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Klein.

The new officers presented included Mr. and Mrs. Robert Glenn, president; Mr. and Mrs. Ross Martin, vice president; Mr. and Mrs. Chan Tyrell, secretary, and Mr. and Mrs. Reese Wilson, treasurer.

The retiring president couple, Dr. and Mrs. F. A. Pierson, Jr., automatically become members of the board, and newly named board members are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hyland.

LEARNED that yesterday was moving day for Mr. and Mrs. J. Taylor Greer and their young daughter, Penny. The Greer's address from now on will be 2631 Winthrop Rd.

Langenberg of Milwaukee, Wis., and Donn Winston Anawalt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Anawalt of Aurora, was solemnized in the presence of members of the family and a small group of friends at the Old Mission in Santa Barbara, Calif., Saturday, Aug. 28.

Miss Bernadine Langenberg was her sister's maid of honor and only attendant, and serving his brother as best man was Roger Anawalt of Bakersfield, Calif.

For her wedding, the bride wore a gown of silk taffeta in the champagne tone. The snug bodice was designed with a wide V neckline and brief, shirred sleeves, completed by short gloves of white kid, and beneath the fitted midriff, the skirt flared into waist length. A tiny cap of illusion, dotted with pearls, held her veil of illusion, and she carried a nosegay of white Elin roses.

A reception and wedding dinner was held at the Santa Barbara Biltmore Hotel. The couple will reside on Balboa Island, Calif.

At an early evening service on Friday, Sept. 24, Miss Janice Brinkman of Lincoln, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brinkman of Bennet, became the bride of Harvey Brockhoff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brockhoff of Avoca. The ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. D. F. Luebke at Trinity Lutheran Church in Walton.

White candles burning in bronze candelabra, and tall arrangements of white gladioli formed the chancel decor for the wedding, preceding which Mrs. Robert Siefert sang "Because," and "Oh Promise Me." She was accompanied by Mrs. Albert Francke, organist, who also played the wedding music.

As her sister's matron of honor, Mrs. Clement Cheney wore a frock in the coral tone fashioned with a strapless basque of satin and widely flaring skirt of net over taffeta. Costumed identically in turquoise net and satin were Miss Elaine Brockhoff of Avoca, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Janice DeCamp of Lincoln, bridesmaids, and Mrs. Forrest Nisley of Bennet and Miss Janice Stone of Lincoln, who lighted the candles. Fitted satin jackets completed their ensembles, and they carried bouquets of carnations. The flower girl was Jan Rene Cheney, niece of the bride, and Curtis Cheney, the bride's nephew, was ringbearer.

White satin touched with imported lace was worn by the bride for her wedding. Iridescent paillettes patterned the floral motif of the lace applique trim of the snug bodice, which was designed with long, fitted sleeves, and the paillettes and lace were repeated in diagonal

France 'Not To Assume U.S. Troops Will Stay'

If French Veto Arms For Bonn

LONDON (AP)—The United States intends warning France that she cannot assume American troops will stay in Europe if she rejects plans to rearm West Germany, informed diplomats reported Friday night.

French Premier Pierre Mendes-France has accepted the idea of West Germany's entry into the North Atlantic Alliance — under certain conditions.

But, the informants said, the French conditions are not completely acceptable to the United States, Britain, West Germany and some of the other Allied nations.

For Conference
Foreign ministers of nine nations began to assemble here for a conference next week on ways of restoring political and military unity to the disarmed Germans — a conference that could make or break the Atlantic Alliance.

The nine are: France, West Germany, Britain, the United States, Italy, Canada, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg. Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany Friday night endorsed British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden's plans for restoring West Germany's sovereignty and admitting her to a revised Brussels pact and NATO.

The European Consultative Assembly at Strasbourg, an advisory group of representatives from 15 West European parliaments, by a vote of 65 to 8 today urged that the London conference let West Germany rearm and strengthen NATO. — But the Assembly took no position about opening NATO to West Germany.

Secret Agreement
Mendes-France in a secret agreement with Eden last week undertook to stake his government's life on getting the Germans into NATO by the end of 1954, provided that:

1. West Germany and Italy join with France, Britain, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg in a new European alliance pledged to resist aggression from any quarter for the next 50 years.

2. Tight safeguards against any unawakened German rearmament are accepted and administered by the new seven-nation group. A "Council of Seven" should be given powers to inspect and control all the armament factories and other military resources of each member country save Britain. It also should set ceilings to the armed forces of its members.

3. Production of atomic and hydrogen bombs and other weapons mass destruction is prohibited Germany and other countries in the "forward" zone close to the Iron Curtain.

4. The "Council of Seven" is empowered to allocate all foreign (mainly American) military aid to the alliance.

Memory Pays Off

PEARL HARBOR (AP)—A good memory paid off for both the government and Frank G. Medeiros, 31 years of service as an army civilian employee. Medeiros remembered an old water line in time to save the government $1,400 on a new project. He received a $275 cash award.

CIO Steel Workers Bar Communists

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—The CIO United Steel Workers of America barred their doors to Communists Friday.

In the final action of a topsy-turvy convention, the 3,000 delegates voted to change the union's constitution and make Communists ineligible for membership.

"You will note," said USW President David J. McDonald, "that we are barring from membership Communists and other types of scum."

The constitution also excludes from the union those workers who "actively participate" in the Ku Klux Klan or any "other Fascist, Action Committee, a continuing campaign for repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor law and condemnation of the 'pro-employer bias exhibited by the new majority of the National Labor Relations Board.'"

Ralph H. Brigham, Famed Organist, Dies At Age 67

Ralph Hibbard Brigham, 67, famed U.S. concert organist, died Thursday at Rockford, Ill.

Mr. Brigham presented an organ recital at Pinewood Bowl in 1949 and had played the organ at several Lincoln churches during visits here.

Survivors include his wife, two daughters and several grandchildren and his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Brigham of Lincoln.

Highway Crash Kills 4

MONETT, Mo. (INS)—Four Springfield, O., residents were killed Friday in a highway accident near Monett. Victims were Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Connelly, aged 60 and 54, their daughter, Mrs. Norma H. Powers, 20, and a son-in-law, Harry Faut, 36. Missouri highway patrolmen said Faut came over a hill on highway 60 and struck two trucks which had been in a collision.

Swim Pool Firms Submit Proposals

Mayor Clark Jeary and Councilman Pat Ash hope to recommend to the City Council an engineering firm to prepare plans and specifications on the new University Place Park swimming pool.

Proposals for doing the work have been submitted to Jeary and Ash from both local and out of state firms.

A form of proposed contract has been submitted by Kenneth H. Larkin & Associates, Kansas City, Mo. This firm has specialized in pool construction and designed the pools at Humboldt, Wymore and Fairbury and is now designing a pool for Lexington.

Larkin stated that "a very nice and adequate" pool could be constructed for the $65,000 the city has appropriated for that purpose. His firm, he said, prefers a rectangular shaped pool.

Larkin stated that if his firm were engaged for the work, bids would be taken around the middle of November. Some work must be done yet this year, he said, if the pool is to be ready by next summer.

Youth Fined $250 On Assault Charge

A 17-year-old Lincoln youth has been fined $250 in Lancaster County Court after pleading guilty to assaulting a 18-year-old girl on Sept. 20 "in a menacing manner."

The high school senior admitted in court following and stopping the girl near 17th and E, and then following her another block before she was picked up by three other girls in a car.

Judge Herbert Ronin, reading statements of both the youth and girl, said the youth had put his hand on the girl's throat and said "don't scream or I'll kill you." When the girl screamed, the youth dropped his hand. The girl ran. He followed her until she was picked up.

Moslems Clash

CAIRO (INS)—Steel-helmeted Cairo police were called in to restore order last night when rival factions clashed at a meeting of the Moslem Brotherhood. The meeting in a Cairo suburb turned into a battle over a proposal to unseat the brotherhood's leader, Sheikh Hassan El Modeiby. Several members were injured in the clash. Some were arrested.

Diesing Returns As Crosby Aid

James J. Diesing returned Friday to his duties as assistant to Gov. Robert Crosby, following a month spent in field work for the Republican National Committee.

His assignment was to do advance work for the "election express," a project of the National Federation of Republican Women. A bus load of selected members of the federation headed by Mrs. Everett Dirksen, wife of the Illinois senator, and Mrs. Richard Simpson, wife of a Pennsylvania congressman, traveled across country from Washington to the federation's convention in Los Angeles.

Fisherman's Death Prompts Japan To Urge Moving H-Test Ground

ALLISON OFFERS REGRETS

Check Is Presented For Victim's Family

JOHN ALLISON
U. S. Ambassador to Japan Allison is the son of O. J. Allison, for years a Lincoln business man. He was born in 1905, and graduated from the University of Nebraska in 1927.

Upon graduation he went to Japan where he spent two years teaching in government schools and a year as zone manager for General Motors. He entered the American consulate in 1930 and five years later became vice consul. He was named embassy secretary in 1937.

Allison was the central figure in an international incident in 1937 when in company with other Americans he was requested to leave a building by a Japanese sentry and upon refusal was slapped in the face. The Japanese government later apologized.

He was interned during the war, but was exchanged in 1942 and took the post of second secretary of the American embassy in London.

Allison was appointed to his current Tokyo post by President Eisenhower.

Reward For Courage

MARQUETTE, Mich. (AP)—George Cardinal, 41, is a free man because he risked his life in the rescue of two fishermen on storm-swept Lake Superior. Cardinal, an inmate at the Porcupine Mountains prison camp, went out on the dangerous waters in a rowboat and saved two of four fishermen who had been thrown out of their boat by the storm. He was paroled to the custody of an Ontonagon, Mich., garage owner, who was one of several business men who offered to give Cardinal a job if he was released.

Nastal, Given Added Term, Says Does Not Recall McCook Escape

Two Nebraska State Reformatory escapees were sentenced Friday in Lancaster District Court.

Alexander A. Nastal, 28, from Cleveland, O., was sentenced to two years in the Penitentiary after he pleaded guilty to escaping from the reformatory on Feb. 27, 1953.

Apprehended April 19, 1953 at Pueblo during a burglary attempt, Nastal was being returned to Nebraska when he escaped custody en route near McCook on May 7.

Imprisoned in Canada in August, 1953, the escapee was later deported and on Sept. 22, 1954, was returned to Nebraska through the FBI.

No Recollection of Break
Nastal told the court he had no recollection of the McCook escape, claiming he was given "shock treatments" in the Canadian prison.

Nastal was serving a two-year term from Douglas County at the time of his escape.

The other escapee, Gilbert Sagaser, 23, from San Luis Obispo, Calif., was sentenced to 18 months in the penitentiary after he pleaded TOKYO (Saturday) (INS)—The death of fisherman Aikichi Kuboyama 207 days after he was exposed to H-bomb radiation spurred Japan Friday to renew its request that the United States move its nuclear testing grounds far away from the Bikini mid-Pacific area.

Foreign Minister Katsuo Okazaki revived the proposal as Japanese newspapers raised an editorial hue and cry over what one journal termed "the attitude taken by American authorities in minimizing the danger of the H-bomb."

Kuboyama's body, meanwhile, was being prepared for display to the Tokyo public in a Shinto ritual at which several thousand persons were expected to view the remains today.

Following the ceremonies, the body will be cremated and the ashes will be shipped for burial in the fishing village from which the ill-fated tuna vessel Lucky Dragon sailed for the waters near

Coleridge, Gurley Rate Hikes Granted

The state railway commission Friday reported action on two requests for telephone rate increases and scheduled hearings on others.

The Coleridge Telephone Company received authority to raise rates 25 and 75 cents per month, depending on class of service. The company also may discontinue its prompt-payment discount plan. The changes are effective Oct. 1.

Amount of increases to be made at Gurley by the Gurley Telephone Company ranges from 75 cents per month to $1.25. The effective date is Oct. 1.

The commission will hold a hearing in Lincoln on Oct. 11 on the proposal of Rose and Fred Byddahl to sell the Wellfleet Exchange to Mildred J. Welsh.

The request of the Diller Telephone Company for an increase in rates will be considered Oct. 22.

Other commission action:
William M. Latta, doing business as Farm-Air Activities, Hastings, Neb., was granted authority to engage in intrastate air commerce as a class "A" carrier.
Burlington Railroad granted permission to discontinue custodian at Cowles, Neb. Request of Burlington Railroad to substitute custodian for agency service at Moorfield, Neb., scheduled for hearings in town hall at Moorfield on Nov. 4.

guilty to reformatory escape on Oct. 15, 1953.

Apprehended in South Carolina, he served a one-year federal term for auto theft before being returned to Nebraska.

Sagaser was serving a one-to-three year term for burglary given Sept. 21, 1953, from Cheyenne County.

Judge Harry Spencer ordered the escape sentences to run consecutively to current terms of the two escapees.

Pierce To Support Elliott As Regent

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb. (AP)—Donald W. Pierce, Alliance, who lost his primary election attempt at nomination for the University of Nebraska Board of Regents, will support incumbent Regent Jack Elliott of Scottsbluff.

Elliott will have Frank Johnson, Lexington, a former regent, as his opponent.

In a letter sent to Scottsbluff persons, Pierce wrote that Elliott is the "only western man on the board." Pierce went on "I sincerely believe the interests of the state as a whole will be better served by retaining a man from Scottsbluff which is at the extreme western end of the state."

Bikini atoll last February.

Kuboyama, radio operator aboard the Lucky Dragon, and his 22 shipmates were blistered March 1 when the fishing boat was showered with radioactive ash from an American hydrogen test explosion. The 40-year-old fisherman died Thursday evening and Japanese doctors said he was history's first H-bomb fatality.

The impact of his death was felt by Americans as well as Japanese. U.S. Ambassador John M.

Allison called on Foreign Minister Okazaki Friday to convey his government's regrets.

Shortly thereafter, the Japanese foreign office received from Allison a check for one million yen—$2,777—to be given Kuboyama's family as "a token of the deep sympathy of the American people." The check was accompanied by a note from the ambassador to Kuboyama's widow, Suzu. It said:

"I wish you to know the deep sorrow and regret felt by the government and people of the U. S. and personally by me over the death of your husband. There are no words of mine which can assuage your grief.

"While no sum of money can compensate you for your loss, it is the desire of the government of the U. S. that something be done to make life easier for you and your children in the future."

Soon after he received the American ambassador, Foreign Minister Okazaki, commenting on Kuboyama's death, reminded newsmen that Japan had proposed to the U. S. that the nuclear weapons testing site be removed from Bikini.

Okazaki declared this request was "still important to Japan and the Japanese people."

He refused to comment on whether Kuboyama's death would expedite settlement of Japan's damage claims against the U. S. for losses suffered as a result of last spring's nuclear test blasts in waters important to Japan for fish which is a vital item in the nation's diet.

The newspaper Yomiuri, Tokyo's largest daily, called upon Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida to take up the nuclear testing problem "as the first subject" of his talks with President Eisenhower and other U. S. leaders when he visits America on his world tour. Yoshida is due to start his 50-day global journey Sunday.
